CHAUTAUQUA WEEK WILL BE USHERED IN THIS EVENING

Formal Opening Will Take Place Tuesday At 10 A. M.

A FINE WEEK'S ENTERTAINMENT

Charleroi's week of Chautauqua will be ushered in this evening with a play festival by the young people. This will be under the direction of Miss Martha McKnight of the Lincoln Chautauqua who will supervise the play of the children during the week, and on the last day put on a pageant.

All children between the ages of six and fourteen are invited to meet at the high school this evening at seven o'clock. From there they will take part in a parade to the Pines where the games will be held. The thing that will appeal most to the sharpeyed boy or girl is the ticket hunt. Tickets will be hid and in this case, finding will be keeping, for the boy or girl who first sees a ticket.

The hour of play by the children will be preceded by a parade in which automobile owners are invited to participate. This is Charleroi's opportunity for a week's outing, relaxation and entertainment at home. It is a week for the boys and girls, too. There will be supervised play every morning at 10 o'clock in which they are all invited to participate. Every program will include music which they will like, and Daddy Grobecker's Yodlers will certainly be their treat, not to mention Robert O. Bowman who comes here in character portrays and humorous readings.

The Chautauqua will be formally opened tomorrow when J. H. Batten, Superintendent, will take charge. Owing to delay in receiving a tent, the first afternoon session at least will be held in the high school auditorium. It is hoped that the tent which will be pitched at the Pines will be ready after that. At the latest, however, it will be ready for the second day's program.

Mr. Batten is a lecturer of ability and an able platform man. He will deliver an address the first day on "The Spirit of Democracy." The Ionian Serenaders will give an entertainment and musical concert both afternoon and evening. The children's games and athletics will be at ten a. m. There is no admission charge for participation in the athletics and games. All the young people are welcome. So, send the children out and have them taught to play. No boy or girl can develop normally who does not know how to play.

The afternoon programs begins at 2:30; the evening programs at eight o'clock.

WANTED—I want to rent a house in Charleroi, four, five, or six rooms. If you have one, or know of one, notify 27 Mail office.

Director of the Poor W. W. Hawkins received word from Philadelphia last week telling him that Marcus Hill son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hill of Stockdale, who had served his country in the army, was suffering from mental trouble. Arrangements will be made to have the young man brought to this county for treatment.

The borough council of Roscoe is busy collecting data for the purpose of devising a method to supply the town with an adequate water supply. An engineer will shortly be at work preparing estimates for the construction of a municipal plant that will enable the borough to supply water at a mnimum cost to the consumer.

TICKET SALES ARE VERY SATISFACTORY

The sale of tickets for the Lincoln Chautauqua is progressing nicely and the young ladies who have this feature in charge hope to have the quota finished by Tuesday afternoon. Miss Mary Bradley is still leading in the race for the first prize, with Miss Felicie Bosson second she having moved up from third since Saturday, Miss Mabel Orange third, Miss Amelia Heuple fourth, Miss Dorothy Shipe fifth, Miss Ethel Barth sixth. Miss Allen seventh, Miss Harriet Wagner eighth and Miss Leo Castaux ninth. The contestants will meet at the office of Dr. Hetrick this evening at 8:15 o'clock to make reports and receive additional instructions from Mr. Rose, the Chautauqua advance man.

State Cash Tax Bonus Ready for Distribution

The State Highway department today announced the amounts to be received by the various counties of Pennsylvania from the appropriations by the present legislature covering the cash tax bonus due townships for the years 1913 and 1914. The total amount for distribution is $1,142,049.38.

By Act of July 22, 1913, known as the "Jones Dirt Road Act" it is provided that the general supervision of road affairs in each township of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall be vested in three township supervisors. It is further provided that the road tax in townships shall be collected in cash and no taxes shall be payable in labor or worked out. It is also provided thateach township shall furnish an annual report to the State Highway department, sworn to before a notary public, showing all receipts and expenditures during the past year; and also file a signed agreement setting forth the proposed method of expending funds received from the commonwealth. This, together with a copy of the treasurer's bond, is sufficient to entitle the township to receive its share of the annual bonus, which is intended to cover an annual reimbursement from the State of fifty percent of the total amount of road tax collected by thetownship as shown in the sworn statement, but it is provided, however, that no township shall receive in any one year more than $20 per mile of township road in said township.

By Act of June 3, 1915, the provisions of the Act of July 22, 1913, were suspended until all deficiencies incurred prior to the year 1915 be paid by the commonwealth of Pennsylvania. During the present session of legislature, an appropriation of $1,142,049 38 was made to pay in full all the deficiencies due the townships and the certification of this bonus to the State Treasurer for payment to the townships is now under way. The mehod provided for making this distribution is for the State Highway commissoner to certify to the Auditor General the amount due the respective township. The Auditor General then upon approval is required to draw warrant upon the State Treasurer for payment and the State Treasurer to pay dirct to the Treasurer of the Board of township supervisors. Vouchers are now being prepared and will soon be certified to the Auditor General covering the distribution in full of the deficiency appropriation which became available on June 1, 1919. Washington County will receive $33,457.82.

CHILD LOSES HAND IN AUTO ACCIDENT

In an automobile accident at Finleyville on Sunday afternoon about 3:45, Richard Waltz, aged three years, son of Mrs. William Waltz, of West Elizabeth had his right hand cut off at the wrist by a train on the B. & O. road. The other occupants of the car escaped wthout injury, but the auto was completely wrecked.

In the automobile which belonged to Charles Byers of West Elizabeth, were Mr. Byers' son Harold, who was driving, Mrs. Byers, her two daughters Gertrude and Sarah, and Mrs. Waltz and her small son. The car drove up to the B. & O. crossing near the Finleyville station just as the eastbound passenger train, due at 3:45, was arriving. Young Byers suddenly realized that he could not stop the automobile. All jumped to safety. The little Waltz child saw his hat blown under the train and in crawling unnoticed under the train to get it had his hand cut off by the car wheels. He was taken to the Memorial hospital at Monongahela.

The wrecked automobile was seen by a number of Charleroi people who passed through Finleyville shortly after the accident happened.

A telegram was received on Saturday by Mrs. Charles Lauderbach from her son Private Charles P. Lauderbach, telling of his safe arrival at Camp Merritt from overseas. Private Lauderbach was formerly with the 79th Division, but at present is attached to the medical section of the 55th Infantry.

WILL PROVIDE THE MISSING ROAD LINK

The rebuilding of ten miles of the old Pittsburg-Washington turnpike, now state highway route 108, between [illegible] Allegheny county, and Morganza, Washington county, will be completed next fall. The road then will provide an improved highway from Pittsburg via the Cartiers valley to Washington and thence by way of the National pike to Wheeling and the west. The contract for the improvement was awarded to the Samuel Gamble Company of Carnegie. last year, but owing to the scarcity of labor and other war conditions, the work was not placed under way till this spring The awarding of the contract was a war measure. The Federal government urged that the old Pittsburg pike be improved, so that mofor truck service between the Atlantic coast and the middle west could be diverted from the Lincoln highway at Pittsburg to the National Pike via Washington.

This highway is one to which T J. Underwood called attention as showing what be called the excessive cost of road building according to specifications of thestate.

After making sure that Prussian militarism is thoroughly eliminated it might be well to follow Secretary Lane's suggestion and mobilize against the Flu.

Miss Alice Calvert has returned home from Waynesburg, where she was the guest of Miss Mary Sayres at a week-end house party.

HOTEL BARS WILL CLOSE AT 9:30 P. M., MONDAY, JUNE 30

HEAVY DAMAGES AGAINST RAILROAD

Charles A. Williams, in his suit against the Chartiers Southern Railroad company, was awarded $20,643.32 damages by the jury which sat in the hearing of the case for more than a week. The jury reached an agreement last Saturday morning, after being out from 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. The verdict of the jury is an increase of more than $7,000 above the award of the viewers, which was $13,000, from which award Mr. Williams took an appeal. The farm of Mr. Williams contained 60 acres and the railroad in its right of way took 13 acres. Mr. Williams contended that the railroad practically ruined his holdings,which he used successfully as a produce farm.

WILL ERECT TWO NEW SCHOOL HOUSES

The East Pike Run school district will erect two new school houses during the summer. A one-room addition is to be erected at the White Hall school, owing to crowded conditions there last year ,and a two-room addition to Red Hill school making six rooms at that point. The contracts for the erection of these additions have been awarded to John Powell Sons of California. for $8,700.

Hotel Men Hope for Extension But Will Comply With Law

HOTELS TO CONTINUE AS USUAL

Unless there is a change in the provisions of the war-time prohibition measure all of the bars in Washington county will close Monday evening, June 30, at 9:30 o'clock. At that hour the sale of all liquors over the licensed bars of the county will cease at least temporarily, and will not open again until the measure is set aside by President Wilson.

The Washington County Hotel Association, of which W. R. Gaut of Charleroi is president and Ben Frankle of McDonald is secretary, have sent out notices to all the hotel keepers in the county, stating that all bars are to be closed at the regular time Monday evening next. Mr. Frankle in discussing this feature of the situation said that every bar in the county would be closed at that hour regardless of whether the law is repealed or not.

Some of the hotel keepers have hopes that the edict of the President will be repealed, but the Washington county dealers are prepared to close their bars at the time above noted. Under thecircumstances they could keep their places of business open until 12 o'clock, buf it is not likely that any such action will be taken.

It is also stated that all the hotels of the county will be conducted as usual after the bars have been closed.

MEDICAL CAMOUFLAGE

A certain "D. D." who may be a Doctor of Divinity but is probably a Doctor of Dentistry, bearing the appropriate name of Mohler, writes an illuminating letter to one of the papers in regard to professional terminology.

"I have noticed," he says, "that a medical man's practice broadens with his vocabulary; also that it is far easier to command a large fee for exodontia than for tooth-yanking, though both terms mean the same."

He suggests, therefore, applying the same principle in barber shops. Thus:

"Instead of treating a man's scalp for dandruff, operate on him for seborrhea sicca; instead of a hair-cut, perform a capillisectomy; instead of applying tonic, call it capilliculture; and lastly, instead of the massage, practice a little vibrotherapy."

Surely no friend of humanity would offer such a suggestion as this. Tonsorial bills are quite high enough as it is.

Still, when you come to think over the barbers you know, you may conclude that you're safe after all. And perhaps any barber who succeeds in mastering this high-toned terminology will deserve his reward.

It would be worth a little extra, the first time at least, to hear one barber inquire whether the patron desired his capillisectomy executed literally, perpeadicular or rounded posteriorly and whether he would care for a moderate administration of scripitofrontal vibrotherapy.

TRAVELS AT HOME

It is not possible for every one to take long vacations or protracted journeys, but a lot of pleasure can be got out of travelling at home. This does not mean pouring over the atlas by the evening lamp. It means taking little jaunts to places in one's own town or the near vicinity.

Nearly every town and village and city has interesting and beautiful scenery within short walking or riding distance.

In the big cities the last side of the town is frequently unknown to the east, and the south to the north. Many a dweller in a country village sighs for the advantages of travel and longs to gaze upon the beauties of nature far away, when he has only to take a fifteen cent trolley ride to find himself in a ravine as charming as anything in Europe, or beside a little body of water which for clearness and rippling beauty is not excelled by any Italian lake.

There are historic places scattered all over this country, little cemeteries, old battlefields, sites of Indian celebrations or other interesting spots. Pleasure and information can be gained from visits to local manufactories or days spent watching or chatting with the foreign population.

The mere fact that one cannot travel all the world around is no reason why one should be dull or provincial. There is beauty, culture, education everywhere, within a few miles of home.

PARACHUTES FOR FLYERS

England is enforcing a rule that all flyers in the Royal Air Forces shall carry parachutes of certain tried types, and it is intended to extend the ruling to English flyers generally.

This is an eminently wise ruling. There are many designs of parachute which have proved themselves trustworthy under tests, and it is as absurd to set out upon an air voyage without some sort of life-saving equipment as upon a sea voyage without life-preservers, rafts and life-boats.

It has been said that the Germans have used parachutes constantly and that the number of deaths among their flyers has been less than among those of other nations for that reason.

If it is true that lives have been sacrificed which might have been saved, it can perhaps be excused by the hurry of war and lack of adequate preparation in all war equipment. But to continue a like neglect into non-war flying is inexusable.

The perfecting and compulsory use of safety appliances should grow with the art of flying itself. The world has lost too many men to risk one unnecessarily.

SINKING THE FLEET

The Germans themselves have very definitely answered the question as to what should be done with the Hun fleet. The greater number of the ships which have been interned at Scapa Flow, Orkney Islands, now lie at the bottom of the sea, and it is probable they will never be raised again, unless it be by some salvage company for the material that can obtained from them. The German crews in charge of these vessels, acting under orders from their superior officers, opened the seacosks of the vessels, they gradually filled with water, and in a short time were under the waves.

Allied forces were in a quandry as to the disposition of these vessels; now they need worry no longer. What few of the vessels were saved may be used as curios if nothing else, for the biggest of the battleships and battle cruisers have been put away completely and definitely. It looked like a cowardly thing for the Germans to do, but possibly it was the best.

THE CHAUTAUQUA

The Lincoln Chautauqua will open a series of entertainments in Charleroi tomorrow which should give to us some of the most delightful entertainments we have listened to in many months. The Lincoln Chauauqua is no new organization, having been in the field of entertainment for many years and the numbers they propose to give the people of Charleroi should attract hundreds of delighted listeners. This is the Chauauqua season, and one in which many of our citizens who are unable to get away for the season can enjoy a season of recreation and relaxation if they will only do so. The program presented is full of leightful numbers and advantage should be taken of the occasion to enjoy it to the fullest extent.

"Who plants a tree, plants hope." But judging from the treelessness of many streets and homes, there must be a woeful lack of optimism in the ordinary American community.

ACCIDENT TO KEEFE CAUSE OF DEFEAT

An accident to Keefe in the seventh inning was mainly responsible for Arch Osborne's athletes losing a hard-fought eleven-inning game on Saturday last to the Beltzhoover team by a score of 4 to 3. The locals were on the long end of the string at the time the accident occurred, having come from behind and being on run to the good. In the seventh inning, Keefe, who was pitching a fine brand of ball, was struck on the cheek bone by a line drive and inflicted an injury which was so painful that he had to retire from the game. Dr. Smith, who was immediately called, could find no broken bones, but Keefe had to retire. Phillips going into the box, Tope to first base and Kuhn playing the outfield. The visitors deadlocked the score in the ninth and in the eleventh scored the winning run on a double and a single. The locals outbatted their opponents, but the visitors bunched their hits to better advantage.

Two games will be played this week a twilight game Thursday evening when the Star Junction team plays here, and Saturday afternoon, when the Boston-McKeesport club will be the attraction.

INVOLUNTARY PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY FILED

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in the United States circuit Court Saturday afternoon against the Fayette Coal company of Fayette City, by F. L. James, who claims the assets of the company are not sufficient to liquidate a bill of $49,830.83, held by him against the concern. James asserts in the petition that the money is due him for labor and materials

SMITH-SPRING-HOLMES ORCHESTRAL QUINTET.

THE COMPANY ARTISTIC.

This company gives a program of the greatest variety of any company in the Chautauqua field. Every number is different. Their instrumentation is so varied that one selection on each instrument or combination of instruments is all that can be crowded into one program, with the exception of the ensemble, which appears at least three times. Not only do these artists excel along instrumental lines, they are noted for their versatility, their program including a dramatic reading. The Smith-Spring-Holmes people know the art of program building and how to please discriminating audiences. Hear this splendid company at the Chautauqua.

CHARLEY HAD BRIGHT IDEA

Probably the First Time He Had Ever Really Believed in Food Conservation.

Little Charley was bashful. He didn't like to meet all of his mother's aid colleagues, and he didn't care much for girl cousins at family reunions. In school he didn't even have the most common impulse to twist the hair of little Mary Jones in front of him, or even stick the brown braid in the inkwell. He was distinctly modest.

The family was out on a motor trip. They were nearing a city in eastern Indiana, and it was about noon, so naturally they thought a little about eating. This was the topic of discussion.

"Um," said the father, "there is a nice hotel in Main street."

Little Charley writhed. Eat in a hotel with people in it? It was bad enough to go in a hotel with people in it, but eat in a hotel with people in it—never.

The rest of the family didn't see it that way. They were for getting a semi-country meal in this little city. Finally, they decided to make for the hotel for sure.

Charley was in despair. He didn't know what to do. They were determined to go to the hotel and then—— He had the idea!

"Papa," he said, weakly, "let's don't eat this noon."

"Well, why are you suggesting such a thing, anyway?"

"You see, um—ah, well, daddy, Mr. Wilson says to win the war, and Mr. Hoover says food will do it. Let's conserve!"—Indianapolis News.

WORLD HAS MUCH COCHINEAL

Little Probability That the Supply Will Fall Much Below the Demand.

In the first half of the last century the culture and growth of the cochineal insect was introduced, and so successfully carried out in various parts of the old world that the quantity yearly produced now rivals the whole amount obtained from Central America, the source from which all foreign supplies were first obtained. In 1831 the culture of the cochineal was commenced on the Canary islands, and the first crop consisted of only 8 pounds; in 1832, it was 120 pounds; in 1833, it had risen to 1,319; and in 1849, the enormous quantity of 800,000 pounds was exported from these islands, the greater part of which was sent to England and France. In 1845 the quantity of cochineal produced in Java, under the patronage of the Dutch government, mounted to 45,000 pounds. Under the auspices of the French government, plantations were commenced in Algeria, which promise to succeed admirably. Some specimens already exported are pronounced to be superior to the finest qualities from Mexico. Soils unfit for the cultivation of the vine, or potato, readily support the cactus, on which the cochineal insect feeds, while the insect can be more readily raised than the silkworm, and with less chances of loss.

One often hears of "the glacial period' or "the ice age" of the earth; but, strictly speaking, this expression is not correct. It is now established beyond all reasonable doubt that this planet has experienced not one but a great many glacial periods. Evidence has been found which proves that the latest or Pleistocene glacial epoch, has several important subdivisions, and that all of the present continents have experienced glacial epochs at different ages. Great ice sheets were formed at different periods back to the Proterozoic age; that is, the age of the oldest known sedimentary rocks, a great many million years ago. One of the most recent discoveries of the old glacial deposits was made by Professor W. W. Atwood, of the United States geological survey, near Ridgway, in southwestern Colorado. These deposits were found beneath tertiary lavas of the San Juan mountains, and resting upon upper cetaceous beds. They have, it is believed, been formed in early Eocene times.

LOSING DELIGHT IN BEAUTY

Writer Bemoans "Degradation of the Arts," Which He Asserts Is Going on Today.

All the arts but one, says Lucian Crippon in his book, "Clay and Fire," show degradation today, in many cases degradation so great that they have virtually ceased to exist. We have not only forgotten how to make beautiful things, but we have even acquired an instinctive dislike of beautiful things. They seem to have become offensive to us.

"There was recently one curious little instance to which I am tempted to refer, showing as it did, that in our present state of degradation beauty is not only ignored, but has actually become offensive, causing instinctive dislike. The St. Gaudens ten and five-dollar gold pieces were undoubtedly the noblest coins produced in any country in 200 years. Within a couple of months the American public had howled them out of circulation.

"The explanation was afterward made that the coins were disliked because the relief was inconveniently high, but the original outcry was against the design and only the design of these exquisite examples of die cutting. But America has no monopoly of this instinctive hatred of beauty. It was exemplified in the vandalism that was common all over Europe, the destruction of ancient and glorious buildings, usually without valid excuse."

ONE OF WAR'S GREAT DEEDS

Crossing of St. Quentin Canal by British Troops Conceded to Be Remarkable Exploit.

Probably one of the most remarkable exploits of the war was the crossing of the St. Quentin canal by a brigade of South Stafford and North Stafford (British) troops in the course of the advance on Cambrai. The canal is a landmark in the country for miles around because of its dimensions, and just where the crossing was effected the waterway runs for some distance between very steep and high banks covered in some parts by dense low brushwood. That the crossing was made by such a large number of men and so expeditiously is a remarkable tribute to the determination of the men and to the forethought of their commanders. It is related that their commanding officer had sent down to a channel port and had had sent up to the line for the occasion all the lifebelts of one of the well-known cross-channel steamers. It was this measure of precaution which was the means of enabling many men to cross before foot-bridges could be constructed and which was the main contributing factor in the success of the operation.

Tact Saved the Situation.

The newly created English high commissioner in Siberia, Sir Charles Eliot, has served in official capacities in Russia, Turkey, Bulgaria, Serbia, Morocco and the United States. His task in Siberia is a delicate one, but tact is Sir Charles' strong point.

When vice chancellor of Sheffield university Sir Charles created amusement by a remark he made at a university dinner. "Of the changes of the past year," he said, "the one which strikes me most and pleases me most is that every day as I take my walk in the university corridors I see young ladies walking about in gowns." And there he stopped, but the roar of laughter caused him to continue: "In academic gowns, which look most picturesque."

In Memory of French Heroes.

It is believed that with the close of the war the entire line of trenches in France, extending from Alsace to the Belgian border, may be converted in a sort of national sacred forest as a permanent tribute to the memory of the French "Poilus," who died there defending their native soil. A proposition to this effect has been prepared by the general council of the department of the Mense and will be submitted to not only France, but the entire world.

Thousands Exterminated

Tape-Worms With Head

Thousands are suffering from tape-worm, but are treated for some other disease without getting any result.

A SURE SIGN of the presence of these parasites is: Passage of round, longitudinal or pumpkinseedlike particles or other worms.

Suggestive signs are: Pale, bloated appearance, dark rings under the eyes, emaciation, continuous spitting, coated tongue, loss of appetite, with occasional greediness, indisposition after taking certain food, as: Herring, Onions, Vinegar etc., even spells of fainting with an empty stomach, appearing indolent, raising of obstruction in the throat, sour stomach, heartburn, pain stomach, head-ache, humming in ears, with feeling of having a heavy moving mass in the body cutting pains in intestines, rumbling and wavelike movements, palpitation of the heart, exhaustion, heaviness in limbs, sediment in urine, etc.

In addition thereto, may exist sympathetic disturbances which sometimes assume a grave character, hemorrhages, menstrual irregularities, hysterical fits, chorsic convulsions and even epileptic attacks.

PROF. J. H. DICKASON

Professor Dickason for more than twenty years was connected with the College of Wooster, Wooster, Ohio, and so long the head of its academy and summer school, is known as "A man with a smile and a message." He has had a wide experience on the platform and is an apostle of good cheer and better living. His addresses are practical and popular and an inspiration to young and old. He does not pose as a humorist, but through all his addresses there runs a vein of optimism that is most pleasing.

Professor Dickason will appear on the program afternoon and evening of the second day. His general subjects are "The Young Man in Demand" and "Sixty Minutes in a Flying Machine."

OFFICIALS INSPECT THE DONORA MILLS

The semi-annual inspection of the Donora mills was held last week, the plants being visited by the district managers who looked over all of the buildings and grounds in a very thorough manner. It is intimated that as a result of this inspection that an extension of these mills may be effected in the near future. Many inquiries were directed by the inspecting officers to the local mill officials which would indicate this prospect. It is thought that the new purchases made by the company which includes property to the north of the Donora borough line, and which extends to the Baird railroad tower, would accommodate mills with two or three times the capacity of the present plants. Many rumors are flowing about as to what will be done but so far nothing official has been given out.

PROMISE TO OPEN ROAD TO TRAFFIC

It is promised that the river road leading out of Brownsville to the north will be opened to travel in a short time. Contractors have been hired to do the work and it is expected that everything will be in readiness for automobile traffic possibly this week. The delay in opening this road to travel is due to the financial condition of Brownsville, which is unable to pay the contractors for the work already done, not even having made a payment on account. The borough is bonded to the limit and has not enough money to pay the $12,000 which it is indebted to the contractors. However, the county has taken a hand and proposes to help in opening the highway, which is one of the most important in that section of the valley. Its opening to automobile traffic will be greatly appreciated by drivers.

FOUND DEAD ALONG THE RAILROAD TRACK

Joseph C. Williams, aged 41 years of Fayette City, was found dead early Sunday morning in Speers. His body was discovered lying along the railroad embankment a short distance below the station, face downward. There were no marks on the body and it is believed that death was due to alcoholism. Coroner Heffran was notified and the body later brought to the Frye morgue on Fallowfield avenue, where it was prepared for burial and later taken to Fayette City. It is said that Williams had been employed tending bar in one of the Belle Vernon hotels Saturday night and shortly before midnight was seen in the vicinity of where his body was found later, staggerng along near the railroad track. He is survived by his widow and three children.

RED CROSS NURSE IS COMING HERE

Public Health Nursing and Home Hygiene Instruction Part of Peace Time Program.

SPEAKS AT CHAUTAUQUA.

"Nurse the Most Needed Woman in the World," Says Miss Jane A. Delano, Director of the Department of Nursing of the American Red Cross.

To place the public health on a higher plane than it has ever been is the object of a national program undertaken by the American Red Cross as part of its peace time plan. From coast to coast and from lakes to gulf the Red Cross is spreading the gospel of good health and of the proper care of the sick by fostering the study and practice of nursing, both by organized public health activities and by members of the family in every home. Through the Chautauqua an official representative of the Red Cross Department of Nursing will soon tell the people of this community the story of what is being done and will ask their co-operation.

One of the great lessons of the world war is found in the unnecessarily low standards of physical health revealed. This was brought out most forcibly in the great number of rejections of young men called to the colors under the Selective Service Law. Records show that throughout the United States one-third of the young men examined for military service were disqualified from bearing arms for their country through minor physical defects, a large proportion of which might have been avoided by compulsory school examination and proper medical and nursing care.

Urgent Need of Nurses.

Further proof of the general urgent need of women trained in nursing was supplied by the epidemics of Spanish influenza that have caused terrific loss of life and suffering throughout the country. Hundreds of thousands of persons died, and in many communities the plague spread without any adequate means of checking it because of the impossibility of obtaining women capable of caring for the victims. Reports show that many persons actually died without attention because the overworked doctors could not reach them all, nurses could not be found who knew what to do, and neighbors feared to go near the helpless patients.

The uselessness and danger of such a waste of "human power" is only too apparent, for the health and strength of a nation can only be measured by the health and strength of its people. Recognizing the fact that the crux of the whole situation lies in giving every community the means of building up its own nursing strength, the American Red Cross, in co-operation with the various Chautauquas, is sending broadcast the message that none can afford to ignore.

Phases of Public Health Nursing.

Public health nursing includes many phases, such as bedside nursing, in which the nurse visits the patients and gives them hourly care as necessary; school nursing; care of expectant mothers, babies and small children; work in factories and industrial centers; rural nursing, and instruction in Red Cross courses in home hygiene, home dietetics, care of the sick, and various other forms of community service.

To all American women the Red Cross sends this message:

"If you are interested in nursing as a profession, enter one of the training schools for nurses, many of which offer scholarships, and specialize in public health work. If you are already a graduate nurse and anxious to enter this field, the Red Cross has scholarships and loan funds which will equip you for this work. Wives and mothers are urged to take the Red Cross Course of Instruction in Home, Hygiene and Care of the Sick so that they will be able to maintain to the highest degree the health and to nurse members of their household in time of minor illnesses."

Throughout the length and breadth of the land the American Red Cross, spreading the gospel of good health, is sounding a call to American women to adopt the study of nursing, either to join a profession which is daily becoming more highly valued or to fit themselves for nursing in the home.

The Red Cross lecturer soon to appear here will help her hearers visualize the remarkable history of nursing service at home and abroad and will expound the ideals of health conservation so often neglected in many communities. Supplementing the sentimental side of nursing, the mother touch, the lecturer will give a demonstration of efficiency in the sick room. Modern methods of sanitation and scientific handling of the individual sick and of epidemics will also be outlined to her audience.

NURSES FOLLOWED THE ARMY.

"For four years," declares Miss Jane A. Delano, Director of the Department of Nursing of the American Red Cross, "wherever the armies of Europe and America have gone the Red Cross nurses followed. Now that peace has come, she is still the most needed woman in the world, for it is her privilege to lead in a great nation-wide crusade against the ignorance and neglect which allows epidemics and disease to drain the vitality and the life of our citizens."

MISS ISABELLE BYRNE.

Miss Isabelle Byrne, an American Red Cross nurse who has just returned from service with the A. E. F. overseas, will tell of her experiences in the Chateau Thierry and Argonne sectors at the Lincoln Chautauquas here. Miss Byrne, who was assistant directrice of the Roosevelt Hospital, New York city, went to France as a member of the Army Nurse Corps and served as chief nurse of Mobile Operating Unit No. 1 at Chateau Thierry. This unit traveled with the American troops, carrying their equipment and supplies entirely on trucks, and within sound of the enemies' guns, and often were under direct shell-fire, "serving as long as the boys were being brought in, which meant that we were on duty during the September drive thirty-six hours at a time."

MARCH'S TWO BIRTHSTONES

Persons Born in That Month May Have Choice of the Bloodstone or the Aquamarine.

The month of March has two birthstones. The one sanctioned by ancient tradition is the bloodstone. As an alternate the aquamarine is given in the list of birthstones adopted by the National Jewelers' association. The bloodstone is a variety of chalcedony, dull green with blood-red spots. It is sometimes called heliotrope. The principal mines are in India, though it is found in Scotland, Brazil, Uruguay and Australia. It was supposed in old times to have therapeutic virtues and was used especially to cure hemorrhages and inflammatory diseases. Because of this fancied curative value it was widely worn cut in the form of a heart in Mexico in the days succeeding the conquest by Spaniards and Indians. The stone is still believed by the superstitious to be an amulet bringing good luck. An ancient Egyptian parchment says: "If anyone have this stone with him he will be given whatever he asks for and whatever the wearer says will be believed."

The aquamarine is a transparent variety of beryl, characteristically of a bluish green color. Its name, translated, means "sea water," and it looks like the green-blue water of the ocean frozen into a flashing crystal. Large aquamarines are especially beautiful as brooches or necklace pendants.

WALK MUCH AND LIVE LONG

Overwhelming Evidences That Pedestrianism Is by Long Odds the Best Form of Exercise.

"Walk, walk, walk, every day, and while walking give the arms full play. By so doing the bones, blood, muscles, nerves and brain will be kept in healthy activity. Moreover, never mind the weather. Take your exercise, be the day wet or fine, hot or cold. Above all, avoid sitting over a fire. Nothing is more conducive to senility." This is the prescription of Sir Herman Weber, the eminent European physician, who died at the age of ninety-five years. Certainly there could be no better recommendation of the virtues of walking than the life of Sir Herman.

Walking is something that cannot be overdone, and at the same time much out of fashion at the present time. In this day of automobiles the man who walks is the exception, and while the man in the motorcar derives a vast amount of benefit from his trips into the country and through getting his lungs pumped full of fresh air, he does not obtain the great variety of health-giving features that come with walking.

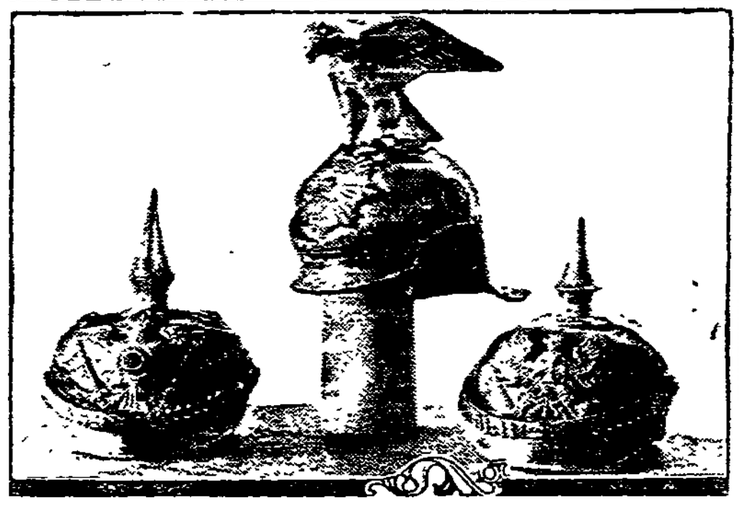
Helmets Worn by German War Lords on Exhibit at Methodist Centenary Celebration



THREE helmets, absolutely guaranteed to have been worn by the former Kaiser William of Germany, Von Bethmann-Hollweg and General Ludendorff, will be on exhibition in Columbus, O., as a part of the Methodist Centenary Celebration, June 20 to July 13. They were brought out of Germany during the revolution by Lowell Thomas, world traveler and explorer, whose travelogues will be given in Columbus as a feature of the celebration.

Thomas entered Germany at this most critical period, without passports or authority of any kind. To do this he was forced to hide out for days on the border. He was turned back twice, but on his third attempt succeeded in getting past a Swiss guard. He made some wonderful pictures in Berlin showing street riots and the general chaos of the city at that time.

In addition to these views and incidental lectures, Mr. Thomas will show pictures taken in Palestine at the time of General Allenby's occupation. Thomas accompanied the British troops on this expedition.

METHODISTS SHOULD GATHER NEW ZEAL

Centenary an Inspiration Says Dr. Fisher.

Dr. Fred Fisher of New York, who has been assistant executive secretary of the Methodist Centenary drive, has turned his entire organization to the job of mobilizing Methodism in Columbus, June 20 to July 13.

In outlining the campaign he has placed before 78,000 committeemen of the Methodist Church, he says: "We must stress four things. First, this will be a big Victory Celebration. The Methodists of the United States have lived more in the past year than in any 10 previous years of their existence. Now is the time for them to get together and celebrate their victory.

"In the second place, this is an opportunity for Methodists to have visualized the scenes and activities of which they have been talking for the past year, but of which they have no personal knowledge. Of these 78,000 men, only a negligible per cent has ever had the opportunity of going abroad. At the celebration they can get the trip around the world at their convenience.

"Third, this is the time to 'finish the job,' to gather inspiration and information to enable the organized workers in the church to carry out the program which has been mapped out for the next four years.

"Fourth, and most important of all, if the Celebration realizes the ideals which those who are back of it hold, it must be the inspiration for planning work for the next century. As we look upon the marvels that have been accomplished we should gather new faith and new zeal for enterprises that can be measured only in terms of another century. We must, in a word, weld ourselves together in a great spiritual purpose to strike the bull's eye."

Dr. Fisher indicated that 150 trained executives, in addition to the 78,000 volunteer workers, will stimulate interest in the Centenary Celebration during the next six weeks.

JULY 7 NEGRO DAY

Trips Planned For Visitors to Methodist Centenary.

Negro Methodists, in Columbus as Centenary Celebration visitors, will make a pilgrimage to Upper Sandusky, birthplace of the Home Missionary movement, to honor the memory of its founder, John Stewart, a man of their own race. The trip is scheduled for Saturday July 5.

Other trips planned include a visit to the grave of Ben Hanby, author of "Nellie Gray," in Otterbein cemetery to Ohio Wesleyan University. Delaware, perhaps in smaller numbers to Wilberforce, and possible to Oberlin, where so many found, by underground route, safe haven in Civil war days.

Monday, July 7, has been designated officially as "Negro Day," and will be observed at the Centenary Celebration grounds with an elaborate program of pageantry, addresses, special music and parades. For this occasion, Dr. W. E. Dubois, editor of The Crisis, published in New York, has written a pageant, "The Star of Ethiopia," which will be produced in the Coliseum by colored participants. The theme of the pageant is the evolution of the race traced through progressive stages of achievement up to the present day. A chorus of [illegible] voices, will pre

Leading Lady In 'The Wayfarer' at Methodist Centenary Celebration

MME. BLANCHE YURKA creates the role of Understanding, leading female part in "The Wayfarer" pageant, which will be presented at the Methodist Centenary celebration in Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13. Henry Herbert, English Shakespearean interpreter, will have the other leading role.

Nearly 1,000 costumed characters will appear in the majestic religious pageant which will be presented every evening during the celebration in the Coliseum at the exposition grounds. The Coliseum boasts of the largest stage in America and seats 8,000 persons. A seated chorus of 1,000 trained voices will augment the effectiveness of the pageant.

Soloist in "The Wayfarer" at Methodist Celebration

MISS HELEN NEWITT, dramatic lyric soprano, will be the soprano soloist in "The Wayfarer," the great religious pageant which will be presented as a part of the Methodist Centenary celebration in Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13. Henry Herbert, English Shakespearean interpreter, and Mme. Blanche Yurka, will have the leading speaking parts. Viola Ellis, contralto, will be a soloist.

The pageant will be presented on the largest stage in America, in the Coliseum of the exposition grounds, which seats 8,000 persons. Nearly 1,000 costumed characters and a seated chorus of 1,000 trained voices will appear in the pageant.
